Result: Fiddlers won by 185 runs.

The annual fixture between Hurley and Fiddlers was a one-sided affair with the visitors winning comfortably. With injuries and late dropouts, both teams fielded ten players with Haider-Ali Baig guesting for Fiddlers.

Stand in Hurley skipper Joe Graham won the toss and to the dismay of his teammates, opted to field first on the hottest day of the year. Openers Hamza Din (38) and Govinder Bachu (30) made good use of their opportunity to bat first on a good pitch, posting 59 for the first wicket in nine overs. With neither Hamzah Zaman or Ajmal Ali able to exert any control, Graham brought himself on and picked up the wicket of Bachu with his first ball. He soon followed this by dismissing Din at 85 for 2. The young Gurv Sharma (52) and Neil Haines (50) added 81 for the third wicket. Liam Cole was unlucky not to dismiss Sharma when Zaman shelled the simplest of catches at fine-leg, but did eventually get Haines, caught in the deep by Ajmal Ali. An unbeaten sixth wicket partnership of 69 between Baig (29*) and John Hewitt (39*) saw Fiddlers post a formidable 266 for 5.

With the exception of fourteen-year-old Archie Wild the Hurley reply was a non-event. The top four only made 11 runs between them as Hurley collapsed to 28 for 4 inside seven overs as Dunkley (4-16) and Bachu (1-12) ripped through the top order. Throughout the carnage, Wild stood out like a beacon in the darkness with 58 from 44 balls including 11 boundaries while nobody else made double figures. Baig (2-25) and Nigel Haines (2-28) mopped up the tail to put Hurley out of their misery, with Wild the last man out in the seventeenth over.
