This week brought back the start of the traditional format of 90 overs WLD. Penn & Tylers Green CC opted to bat first after winning the toss, but their innings was characterized by frequent wickets and a lack of substantial partnerships. Opening batsman Christopher Yates fell early, caught by Joban Singh off Kuljit Lally for just 1 run. Paulo Vasco played aggressively, hitting 28 runs off 30 balls, including five boundaries, but was bowled by an excellent in-swinging delivery from Joban leaving the score at 43-2 which marked the beginning of a collapse. Douglas Marriott tried to stabilize the innings with a patient 21 off 43 balls. However, his efforts were in vain as wickets kept tumbling at regular intervals. Aled Lewis managed only 5 runs before being caught by Akash Singh off Gurdev Singh. The middle order offered little resistance, with Ernie Newbold (9), Abhijit Thuse (8), and Mustafa Khalid (11) all falling cheaply. Suhail Khalid remained not out on 20, showing some fight at the tail, but Penn & Tylers were eventually bowled out for 126 in 36.4 overs. Extras played a significant role, contributing 19 runs to the total.

Chasing a modest target of 127, Hurley's innings got off to a disastrous start. Mandeep Lally was dismissed for a duck of the first ball in the 2nd over, caught by Paulo Vasco off Harry Vaughan. Akash Singh was bowled by a good delivery that nipped back in from Suhail Khalid for an unlucky 1, leaving Hurley at a precarious 1-2 which looked more like a football score than cricket. Jasdeep Singh played a crucial anchor role, scoring a patient 13 off 80 balls, his first run coming on his 48th delivery, playing a Mike Walton-esque inning. However this was crucial considering the situation Hurley found themselves in, his steady presence allowed Ravi Singh to play more freely at the other end. Ravi's aggressive 33 off 33 balls, which included three boundaries and a six, shifted the momentum back in Hurley's favour. Despite losing Ravi at 37/3, Joban Singh (13) and Gurdev Singh (17*) ensured that the innings remained on track, it is fair to say that luck was on Gurdev's side as he was dropped several times. Prabinder Singh contributed a quickfire 15 off 15 balls, and Kuljit Lally's unbeaten 12 off 17 balls sealed the victory. Hurley reached the target in 36.5 overs, finishing at 127/6. Extras again played a notable role, adding 23 runs to the total.

Hurley 2s secured a vital win in a low-scoring encounter against Penn & Tyler 2s. Despite early setbacks in their chase, key contributions from Ravi Singh and Gurdev Singh ensured they chased down the target of 127 with 4 wickets in hand. The disciplined bowling performance, led by Ravi Singh's three wickets, set up the platform for this victory.
